Asks Permission to Extend Track

At the last meeting of the City Council, Superintendent Smith of the Blue Grass Traction Company, asked permission to extend their track from Fourteenth street, a distance of about seventy-five feet, to a point immediately in front of the property of William Rion, on which they have secured an option of purchase for the purpose of connecting with High street and doing away with the short curve at Fourteenth and High streets. At this point the curve is very short and difficult for the regular cars when heavily loaded to make the turn. The matter was referred by Mayor O'Brien to the Improvement Committee, who will report at the next meeting of the Council. If the matter is favorably acted upon the work of making the extension will only require about two weeks time and when completed will enable the city cars to make a trip to the Fair Grounds every fifteen minutes.

The curve at Fourteenth street is a dangerous one and should be remedied if possible. Mr. Owsley, who lives on the corner of Fourteenth and Main, we understand refuses to sell his property to the Traction Company, they having offered good prices for same, but at the same time if this change is made as now contemplated it puts Mr. Owsley in a pocket, and will hereafter injure the sale of his property. However, it looks as if Mr. Owsley should come to terms with the Traction Company, when they offer good price for his property, and when the welfare of the public is at stake.

For Attorney General.

Judge James D. Black, of Barboursville, is expected to announce for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General in a few days.

The Cynthia Fair, August 1, 2, 3, 4, auspices A. O. U. W. Write for catalogue. 10 2t

Baptist Bazar.

The ladies of the Baptist church have decided to hold a bazar the week before Christmas. It will be held in the interest of their new church fund.

Wanted.

Gentleman or lady with good reference to travel by rail or with a rig, for a firm of $250,000.00 capital. Salary $1,072.00 per year and expenses; salary paid weekly and expenses advanced. Address, with stamp, Jos. A. Alexander, Paris, Ky.

Directors Hold Important Meeting.

The Directors of the Bourbon County Agricultural Society held an interesting meeting in C. Arnsperger's law office Saturday. Reports of various committees were heard, each showing satisfactory progress for the holding of the sixtieth annual Bourbon County Fair.

The work of constructing the amphitheatre, stables, and fencing and the grading of the grounds, building of sidewalks and driveways is being pushed rapidly. The committee on printing reported that the Bourbon News force was working night and day on the catalogue and making good headway.

The charge of admission was finally settled and is as follows: Adults, 50 cents; children eight years old and under twelve, 25 cents, and those under eight will be admitted free. No season tickets will be issued.

There will be days for all surrounding cities and for different lodges. Gov. Beckham and Senator McCreary will each probably have a day.

The board also ordered a test suit to be filed against one of the subscribers for stock who has refused to pay for same upon the ground that the grounds had been rented for Sunday baseball. Several have refused to pay for their stock for this reason and the board merely wants to see if they had just cause for so doing. There are a number of subscribers who have not paid up, but have promised to do so, and this suit is not in any way connected with them. The Society, however, is in need of funds and will have ample for necessary expenses as soon as all subscribers walk up and plank down the amount subscribed by them.

Niagara Party.

The following persons left Paris Saturday on the Niagara excursion: Miss Sena Davis, Mrs. Rebecca Rudisill, Miss Nettie Whitsitt, Mrs. Joseph Rion, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sparks, Mrs. Luther Rice, Miss F. Wilson, Miss Hettie Whaley, Miss Lena Whaley, Miss Alfa Clarke, Miss Alma Rice, Mrs. Sam Houston, Mrs. Will Adams, Mrs. M. Lyons, Miss Laura Smith, Mrs. John Dean, Mrs. Ed. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. G. Jacoby, Mr. Neely Ranson, Mr. Wallace Clarke, Mr. James Whitsitt, Mrs. Chas. Darnall, Mrs. Frank Vimont, Miss Mabel Ball, Mrs. Jefferson, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Belle Taylor, Mrs. Shaw, Mrs. King, Mrs. Ed. Ingels, Miss Ingels, Mrs. Lelia Judy, Mrs. James Cray, Mr. Chas. Bryan, Mr. Julian Adair, Miss Sallie Whaley.

Ground Waters of Blue Grass Region.

Mr. George C. Matson, of the United States Geological Survey, established headquarters at Paris on July 29th, for the purpose of carrying on investigations of ground waters in Bourbon county. The investigations will finally cover the entire bluegrass region and a report will be issued giving data concerning the sources of ground waters throughout the whole region.

Mr. Matson desires information concerning local wells and will be pleased to confer with all interested in the matter.

Be Here Tuesday.

Dr. L. H. Landman, the oculist, will be at Mrs. Smith Clarke's Tuesday, August 7.

Dancing Class Closes.

Mrs. J. Tandy Hughes' dancing class will close with a dance at Odd Fellows Hall, Wednesday evening, at 7:30. Admission, children 25 cents; adults, 30 cents. There will be a number of fancy dances by children from Lexington.

Mrs. Hughes is one of the best dancing teachers ever in Paris and this closing dance will be very entertaining. She will open another dancing class in the fall.

Hinton's Furniture Emporium.

When it comes to furnishing your house from the basement to the attic people of Bourbon and surrounding counties are fast finding out that the place of all places to go is the large furniture store of Mr. J. T. Hinton, in this city. Here they find furnishings of every design and description, furniture for the humble cottage as well as for the mansion.

Mr. Hinton's furniture emporium is something that the people of Paris and Bourbon county should be proud of and we believe they are, for instead of having to go to Lexington, Cincinnati or other larger cities for their furniture they find it right here at home, and at the prices that cannot be beaten anywhere. Mr. Hinton frequently is the successful bidder over Lexington and Cincinnati merchants.

The large sales of this enterprising and successful merchant in the last few weeks have been something wonderful for this season of the year. His business for the past six months has been the largest he has ever experienced in same length of time.

Without fear of contradiction we will say that Mr. Hinton carries the largest line of furniture, carpets and wall paper of any house in Central Kentucky.

You will only have to call at this great furniture house to be convinced that he has got what you want with prices to suit.

Batts Cabinet Clothes Racks.

When it comes to up-to-date clothiers you have to go no farther than J. W. Davis & Co.'s. This firm is always up to the very minute with everything in the clothing business. They have now installed a complete system of Batts Cabinet Clothes Racks in their boys' clothing department. Sliding rods that draw out the cabinet and immediately in front of the customer are supplied with coat and trousers and the goods can be closely inspected without handling and injury to the garments. The cabinets are dust proof and the clothing always held in position and never wrinkled. The time required to select what you want with these cabinets is about one-half it takes the old way.

Advice to Young Men.

"Young men keep out of politics," says Senator Platt. That advice would be all right if Senator Platt had said, keep out of Republican machine politics, which are rotten to the core. Every citizen of a Republic should take enough interest in politics to investigate the policies of parties and vote—always vote—according to the result of his investigations. Young men especially should take an interest in politics, for it is upon the young men of today that the government of the Republic will rest to-morrow. Some young man of today will be, in a few years, president of this great country, or he will be Senator, or Congressman, or governor of his state. What would happen if the young men of the country "keep out of politics?" Young men should investigate how the so-called Republican policy of protection, that Platt and the other Republican leaders stand for, taxes them for the benefit of protected interests. Young men should know why the cost of living is so great—48 per cent higher than when the present tariff law was enacted—and their salaries have not increased in like proportion. Young men should inquire why they are compelled to continue in the employment of others all their lives instead of as formerly looking forward to be their own masters. It is not to the interest of Senator Platt or the Republican leaders that young men investigate the plundering system that the Republican party stands for, therefore they say keep out of politics.

Think of This, Taxpayers.

When James B. McCreary was Governor of Kentucky he had the tax rate reduced from 45 cents on the $100 worth of taxable property to 40 cents and paid all the expenses of the State.

Under the machine administration the tax rate is 50 cents on the $100 and the taxable property millions more. Think about this, taxpayers of Kentucky when you go to the primary polls in November to vote.

McCreary at Georgetown.

Senator James B. McCreary spoke to an immense crowd at the Georgetown fair Thursday. He received a great ovation when he arose to speak. He reviewed briefly the important bills enacted by the recent Congress. He said he was for a free ballot and free people and believed in the people exercising their suffrage as they see fit. "Whether I am elected or not," he declared, "I will always be found in the front rank, fighting for Democracy and Kentucky."

He told of his long service as Governor and Congressman, and defied anyone to find anything wrong in his record. He was interrupted by deafening applause when he said: "A spirit of reform is abroad in the land, and there is now more independence than ever before. The machine rule and bossism are crushed in other States, and they will never find an abiding place among the people of Kentucky."

Dealing Wisely With Trusts.

Why did the Republican Congress defeat the Tillman bill which provided for exposing and punishing contributions by corporations to party campaign funds? Well, let us see. If the Sugar Trust should produce its sweet donation, or the Steel Trust some of its tariff plunder, or the Coal Trust, through Baer or some other God-entrusted coal baron, should "come down with the dust," it might be awkward to publish such things to the vulgar world, or to punish such "benefactors" of the G. O. P. As Pharaoh said about the Hebrews, so the Republican party said about the trusts: "Let us deal wisely with them."

Large Increase in Expenditures.

The government is spending this year $20,000,000 more than its total revenue in 1897. This is Rooseveltian economy. This is prosperity for the world-power bundle steerers, but not for the taxpayers.

Dangers of Defective Plumbing!

Defective plumbing permits the entrance into the house of sewer gas bearing germs or contagious disease to which the human system readily succumbs. Sewer gas is not necessarily generated in the sewer, but is frequently created in the plumbing system within the home and enters the apartments through defective fixtures. If in doubt, consult us regarding the piping and repairing defective fixtures with "STANDARD" Porcelain Enameled Ware, acknowledged as the best sanitary equipment.

It Wasn't His.

An urchin who occasionally ventured behind the scenes of a theatre on the lower East Side of New York during rehearsals was one day observed by one of the actors sitting in a corner, love-ingly eyeing a huge sandwich which he held in his grimy hands, says Harpers' Weekly. He regarded it for a few moments, and then, cautiously lifted the top layer, extracted a piece of pickle and ate it; then he closed it down again very carefully and accurately made all as before. A few moments later he repeated the performance, taking out another piece of pickle and a small fragment of meat,
and again carefully restoring the sandwich to its original form. After another short interval he took out more pickle and more meat, so that now there was very little of the original middle layer left, and again he closed
it up carefully.

"What are you doing that for,
Tommy?" the actor asked. "That's no way to eat a sandwich. Why don't you eat it all if you want, and not pick at it like that?"

Tommy lifted a scornful eye to the actor's incomprehending face and muttered laconically:
"Tain't mine."

Lucky Heir Gave Away Saloon.

Jerry Miller, a saloonkeeper, of Bristol, Tenn., recently received news that he had fallen heir to mining property valued at $2,000,000, by the death of his uncle. Jerry was so elated over the news that he made his bartender a present of his saloon and business and left for Wyoming at once to claim his fortune. He says he will never sell another drop of liquor.

Keen Sense of Humor.

"There's nothing like a sense of humor," said Rear Admiral Buehler, at Atlantic City. "In a woman, in a soldier, in a sailor, in a clerk, a sense of humor is a help and a blessing through life. At the same time, even a sense of humor may exist in excess.
I, for my part, shouldn't care to have so great a sense of humor as a British soldier I once heard about.

"This soldier was ordered to be flogged. During the flogging he laughed continually. The lash was laid on all the harder, but under the rain of blows the soldier laughed.

"What are you laughing at?" the sergeant finally asked.

"Why," the soldier chuckled, "I'm the wrong man."

Clever Little Stories.

When Senator Reed Smoot was shown a story that he had three wives instead of one he looked at it for a moment and exclaimed: "That is a — lie!" He also exclaimed other things. "Hey, Bill!" said a page
who was standing by to another; "come on over and hear an apostle swear."

"Which is the first and most important sacrament?" asked a Sunday school teacher of a girl preparing for confirmation. "Marriage," was her prompt response. "No, baptism is the first and most important sacrament," the teacher corrected. "Not in our family," said the pupil, haughtily;
"we are respectable."

In Londonderry, one afternoon, the late William Sharp was seated in a barbershop when a farmer entered to get his hair cut. The farmer's locks had an odd, ragged look, and the barber
after regarding them scornfully, said:
"Who cut your hair last, old man?"
My wife," the farmer answered, "with an awkward smile. The barber snorted. "What did she do it with?" he asked; "a knife and fork?"

A Lancashire vicar was asked by a choir to call upon old Betty, who was deaf, but who insisted in joining in the solo of the anthem, and to ask her only to sing in the hymns. He shouted into her ear: "Betty! I've been requested to speak to you about your singing." At last she caught the word "singing" and replied: "Not to me be the praise, sir; it's a 'gift'."

Catholics in Texas.

A 25,000-acre tract of land near Raymondville, Tex., will be colonized by farmers from France, Belgium, Switzerland and Holland. The land has been purchased by A. M. Davidson, of Chicago, land and immigration agent for the Houston & Texas road. The colonists will be chosen by Monseigneur
J. R. Villatte, right reverend archbishop of the Old Roman Catholic church in America, and John Sebastian,
of the Rock Island system.

Ninety acres in the middle of the tract have been set aside as the site of a monastery and cloister for the education of priests and preparation of young men for the ministry. The land will be allotted to the applicants in 40-acre tracts. Only the most desirable immigrants and those skilled in Agriculture and horticulture will be brought in.
The archbishop will be at the head of the monastery. It is understood that if the venture proves successful other large tracts of land will be bought in Texas by Catholics and many Irish farmers will be brought to the Lone Star state.

Negro Inspired Wholesale Murder.

According to the statement recently made by his wife, Nease Gillispie, the negero accused of being the leader in the murder of Isaac Lyerly and family at Barbers, N. C., is the guilty man.
The woman said her husband threatened to kill Lyerly. The five prisoners accused of the crime are still in the jail at Charlestown. According to the testimony, two of the negroes did the killing, while the others held the lamps. The oil was then poured over the beds in order that they would burn rapidly.

To Improve the Weed.

The Bureau of Plant Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station
at Lexington has begun a series of experiments in tobacco breeding with a view to improving the plant in those sections where it is grown in Kentucky.
It is hoped by seed selection and blending qualities to much improve the value of the Kentucky product, both in quality and quantity. In furthering these experiments several sub-stations will be located in different sections, so that the seed of the improved varieties may be put to immediate use by the neighboring tobacco growers. At the present time, the authorities state, there are almost numberless types and varieties of tobacco grown in Kentucky.

Lived in Poverty.

Mrs. Mary Keller and her sister-in-law, Miss Lizzie Keller, German residents of Carrollton, have at a special term of the Carroll County Court been declared incompetent to attend to business, and a committee was appointed to attend to their affairs. The women are worth $10,000, owning a nice brick residence, but it develops that they had been living in the most abject poverty. A search about the house resulted in the finding of $1,648, much of it in gold.

Montaigne Runs on Anything.

When I read Montaigne or Wordsworth or Landor I am always reminded of the advice which the baseball coach on the side lines so often repeats to the men on bases, "Run on anything!" Each one of these worthies,
to continue the parlance of the ball field, accepts all his chances. If Wordsworth never gave to the world "Lines
Suggested by Seeing a Favorite Cat Crossing the Road" it was simply because that spectacle never chanced to arrest his "inward eye." If Montaigne never meditated, as did another celebrated author, on producing a chapter about "Buttonholes" such reticence was not in any degree owing to barrenness
as concerned that or any other known topic. And had he attempted it he would perchance have begun with shoestrings, wandered on to darning needles and pruning hooks, quoted a dozen or so of Latin authors in regard to plowshares, related anecdotes concerning dealings of the Cymbrians, Scythians, Lacedaemonians, Romans and the like with knots and fastenings, mentioned his own personal experience in the matter of hooks and eyes and ended by an exposition of the practical, mechanical and ethical relations between a buttonhole and a button, and every quaint and divaricating line would have endeared him to his affectionate reader.—Martha Baker Dunn in Atlantic.

Birds Cross No Deep Seas.

A writer in the London Outlook points out that no birds cross deep, even if narrow, seas. The narrow Madagascar strait is impassable to birds,
though the north seas are a highway
for them. Godwits pass from the Nile to the shores of Norfolk, though neighboring islands in an archipelago may show no common stock. All birds, with the possible exception of the sparrow, are stirred to movement by different causes—wind, weather, food, the bullying of parent and other birds. Birds of prey drive off their young. Martins love familiar caves. Successive ravens have built on the same ledge for a century. The longer passages are only made over shallow seas that once were land, and when once a journey is made the memory is strong enough to urge a repetition. The change of home then becomes not a fashion, but an inherited habit.

Girl Slaves in China.

A native writer in a Chinese publication remarks: "When a girl is sold in China she becomes the slave of her owner and a part of his property. She no longer retains her freeborn rights, but surrenders them all to the will of those who own her. She receives no compensation for her labor, but is obliged to accept such raiment and food as her owner may be pleased to give her. In cases of tyranny or gross cruelty she cannot appeal for redress.
She may be resold, given away or cast off in the streets at the arbitrary will of her master. All freedom is denied her, and she remains a tool and chat-tel in the hands of her owner until she is sold again or until death releases
her from her unwilling fate."

The Black Maria.

"Black Maria" is a familiar term,
with an origin more or less mysterious.
It has been suggested that "Maria"
really represents the old word "mar-inated," which meant transported or "married," a slang expression formerly applied to persons chained or handcuffed together on the way to jail. But more attractive is the story that in the old colonial days a gigantic and brawny negress kept a sailors' boarding house at Boston and frequently lent her strength to the cause of law and order. Once she took three sailors to the lockup unassisted. "Send for Black Maria," it is said, became a regular way of hinting that a man ought to be jailed.

One English Seal.

The parish council of Rudgwick, Sussex, England, possesses an official seal in which the occupations of all the members are indicated. Thus the vicar is represented by an open Bible, the farmer by some trees, the coal dealer
by a sack, the miller by a mill, the innkeeper by a bottle and jug, the bootmaker by a boot, the auctioneer by a hammer, the doctor by a medicine bottle, the carpenter by a plane and the baker by a loaf.

The Violin.

Each instrument excels in some particular passage, the piano in scale passages, the harp in arpeggio, the mandolin in the rapid repetition of one note, the banjo in the rapid playing of broken chords, and so with other instruments; but the violin can beat them
all on their own ground, while there is much violin music that can be played on no other instrument.

An Optimist.

"Blank started out to be a rose specialist, but the insects ate up his flowers so fast he had to give it up."
"Wasn't he discouraged?"
"No," he found so many interesting varieties of bugs he went in for that subject, and now he's just as enthusiastic over bugs as he was over flowers!"—Detroit Free Press.

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. C. G. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

QIn our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. QWe did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. QWe know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will speedily relieve or cure the worst coughs, colds,
bronchial or lung troubles—and that,
even in bad cases of consumption, one large bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. QNew trial bottles, 25c.; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

Remarkable Recovery.

One of the most interesting cases before the Tri-State Medical Association which met at Ashland last week, was that of baggage master Joe Miller, who shot himself on a C. & O. train near Winchester last March. The wound was thought to be fatal at the time, but he has almost entirely recovered and his recovery is an remarkable one. The bullet entered the under part of the chin, ranged upward, passing through the tongue and crashing into the brain, where it lodged, but one and a half inches back of the left eye. There it now lies, and was photographed by a committee of Ashland doctors. The bullet is of 38 caliber.
Miller seems in perfect health, and says that the presence of the ball there does not give him much trouble, but has affected his sense of smell to some extent. The man, however, desires to have it removed if it can be done in safety, and is willing to subject himself to an operation for that purpose.

Huge Task.

It was a huge task to undertake the cure of such a bad case of kidney disease, as that of C. F. Collier, of Chero-okee, Iowa, but Electric Bitters did it.
He writes: "My kidneys were so far gone, I could not sit on a chair without a cushion; and suffered from dreadful backache, headache and depression. In Electric Bitters, however, I found a cure, and by them was restored to perfect health. I recommend this great tonic medicine to all with weak kidneys, liver or stomach." Guaranteed by Oberdor-

Mrs. Clara Buchanan Dead.

Mrs. Clara B. Buchanan, wife of W. B. Buchanan, of near Clintonville, this county, died at an early hour Sunday morning of consumption. Mrs. Buchanan was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Lary, and was in her forty-first year at the time of her death. She was married December 5, 1882, and is survived by her husband and seven children, the youngest of whom is only three years old. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and the burial at Clintonville cemetery.

Paris 5, Lexington 0.

What do you think of that? Paris smarting under a record of four defeats from the Lexington team went up Sunday and handed them a coat of whitewash by a score of 5 to 0. Bourbon's Wheat Crop.

It is estimated that about 25 per cent of the wheat crop in this county remains to be threshed. Much of the grain not threshed is in the North Middletown precinct. A good yield is reported by the threshermen. Charles Barnett, Superintendent of the Clarke & Lowe thresher, on Friday, threshed 75 acres of wheat for Mrs. Mary F. Bedford that made 2,300 bushels, an average of more than 30 bushels to the acre.

Mr. Joseph Farish, of Ruddies Mills, reports an average of 45 bushels to the acre.

Alfalfa Superior to Red Clover.

Deputy Sheriff A. S. Thompson, who is not only one of the most efficient officers Bourbon County ever had, is one of the most successful farmers in the County. He brought to town Saturday a sample of Alfalfa, having raised eight acres of it and just finished cutting his second crop, the first having been cut June 1. Another cutting will be made about September 15. From the three crops Mr. Thompson estimates that he will secure thirty tons of choice hay. As a substitute for red clover he says alfalfa is much superior, producing three times as much per acre, and has all the desirable qualities as a hay product. Stock of all kinds are fond of it, and in the Spring of the year sheep will leave red clover to feed on alfalfa. Mr. Thompson says there is no better fertilizer, as the young plants are deep rooted, and that it is only a question of time when its general cultivation will be taken up by the farmers of Bourbon county.

Two L. and N. Auditors In Bad.

P. S. Woodson and C. A. Cremnie, of Louisville, two traveling freight auditors of the L. & N. railroad arrived in Paris Saturday night and registered at the Windsor Hotel. They had come here, so we are informed, to check up the freight department of the L. & N. As they could not go to work Saturday afternoon they went to Lexington. After filling up on that bad Lexington whisky they boarded the 9 o'clock interurban for Paris. Aboard this car was a gentleman and his wife who are visiting the latter's parents here. After the car pulled out of Lexington these two Louisville ruffians, who were under the influence of liquor began throwing popcorn around the car and using the most profane, indecent and abusive language a person ever heard. The gentleman protested to the conductor who spoke to Woodson and Cremnie, and it only caused them to talk more. The gentleman above referred to remonstrated with them himself asking them not to use such language in the presence of his wife. This made them worse and they began making the vilest threats as to what they would do when the car reached Paris. The gentleman then asked the conductor to remove them from the car bodily that he would help him, but they were allowed to remain. The wife of the gentleman was badly frightened and begged her husband not to become involved in a difficulty, and heeding her pleadings they were forced to stand the indignities until the car reached Paris.

Cremnie was arrested in his room at the Windsor later, but Woodson made his escape during the night, but was arrested yesterday.

Woodson hunted up the gentleman he had insulted yesterday and told him he wanted to apologize, but was informed by him that he only accepted an apology from a gentleman.

If Cremnie did but know it he barely escaped a coat of tar and feathers and maybe worse on Saturday night. It was the pleadings of the father of the lady that was on the car that saved him.

At the trial of Woodson and Cremnie yesterday afternoon before Judge Dundon, each of them plead guilty, and was each assessed with a fine of $100 and thirty days in jail at hard labor. This should be a lesson to the big city chaps who come out into small country towns and think they own the earth and can do and say anything they choose, makes no difference who is present. This is not the first case of this kind that has happened on the Interurban.

The saying that "trouble never comes single" is true with Woodson and Cremnie, for after receiving the above dose they were fired by wire by the L. and N. officials at Louisville.

The Old Time Buccaneer.

Mr. Masfield's book, "On the Spanish Main," presents the old time buccaneer in a less abhorrent light than that in which most people have regarded him. He even had religious beliefs. No buccaneer was allowed to hunt or to cure meat upon a Sunday. No crew put to sea on a cruise without first going to church to ask a blessing on their enterprise. No crew got drunk on the return to port after a successful trip until thanks had been declared for the dew of heaven they had gathered. After a cruise the men were expected to fling all their loot into a pile, from which the chiefs made their selection and division. Each buccaneer was expected to hold up his right hand and to swear that he had not concealed any portion of the spoil. If after making oath a man were found to have secreted anything he was bundled overboard or marooned when the ship next made the land. Each buccaneer had a mate or comrade, with whom he shared all things and to whom his property devolved in the event of death. In many cases the partnership lasted during life. A love for his partner was usually the only tender sentiment a buccaneer allowed himself.

"Legging" a Canal Boat.

Throughout England there are a number of tunnels cut for canals where boats have to be pushed through by a laborious process called "legging." This is about the only work on the canal women do not do, and they used to do even this. One may see the process in operation near London at the Malda Hill tunnel, which is some 272 yards in length. Sometimes when the roof is low one man can "leg" an empty boat by lying down on his back on top of the cabin and pushing the roof with his feet. With a broad boat "legging" is performed by two men, one on each side of the boat, who lie down on the fore end and push against the tunnel sides with their feet. If the tunnel is too wide boards projecting over the boat's side, termed "wings," are brought into use for them to lie on. At tunnels where traffic is good professional "leggers" are in attendance.

Clever Mother Wood Duck.

How does the mother wood duck get her brood of twelve to eighteen ducklings from her hollow tree to the creek? Hunters, fishermen and nature students have tried to answer this question, and many are the guesses at the riddle. Mr. William Brewster watched an American golden eye that had a nest in the hollow tree overhanging the water until he heard her, after she had made an inspection of the surroundings, utter a "quack" that brought her brood pell-mell out of the tree and tumbling down into the water. A magazine writer says he has seen the young ducks climb out of the hollow down the tree and walk to the water, which was near by. Others believe that the mother carries them in her bill, taking them by their wings; others that she carries them on her back. —Country Life in America.

Origin of "the Levant."

Nowadays "the Levant" means solely the eastern Mediterranean region. But it really signifies the east in a general sense—the region of the rising sun, in fact—being derived from the French "lever," to rise. By "the high Levant" Bacon meant the far east. In the eighteenth century Chambers' Encyclopedia explained that "Levant" applied to any country to the eastward of one, and in this sense Evelyn wrote of "more Levantine parts than Italy." "Levant," indeed, was interchangeable with "orient," just as "ponent" was with "occident." So we find Milton writing of "Levant" and "Ponent" minds. —London Chronicle.

The Tailor Knew.

"I should like," the man cautiously explained to his tailor, "to have a little pocket, a very, very small pocket, one you could hardly see, you know, put somewhere, say in the hem of my trousers or in the waistband, eh, where it couldn't be so easily found. You understand?"

"I see," said the tailor. "You are married now." —Chicago Inter Ocean.

Sailors' Knives.

Except knives that most sailors carry with them, there is said, so highly magnetized as to be capable, if brought within eighteen inches of the compass, of deflecting the needle two points either way. It is suggested that no man should be allowed to wear one of these knives while steering a vessel or while on the lookout in the bridge house.

Needless Suffering.

"Tommy," said Mr. Tucker, laying him across his knee and vigorously applying a large and muscular paternal hand, "it almost breaks my heart to do this."

"Then why don't you let maw do it?" yelled Tommy. —Chicago Tribune.

Bad Luck.

"Do you believe in the bad luck of thirteen?"

"Do I? I was refused by twelve girls, and the thirteenth took me." —Stray Stories.

You may depend upon it that he is a good man whose intimate friends are all good. —Lavater.

Warning to Bearded Men.

"It is well that old men should wear beards," said a physician, "for when one becomes old one should be spared the exertion of daily shaving. But I would like to issue a warning to all beard wearers. I would like to shout 'Keep your beards dry!' in a voice loud enough to be heard around the world. Were those words heeded many cases of sore throat, cold and influenza would be avoided, and many deaths would be indefinitely put off. So many men with beards neglect when they wash their faces to wipe their beards dry! A beard a foot long demands a lot of toweeling. It should be towelled after every wash a good five minutes. Otherwise it is damp. The owner goes about with this damp thing upon his delicate and sensitive throat. Then, if he takes tonsillitis or influenza, he blames the American climate. There are too many damp beards among us. Too many men, washing their faces three or four times a day, have their beards damp and clammy a good three hours daily." —New York Press.

Maine's Female Warrior.

During the war between the states when it became necessary to draft men for the army a recruiting officer, Parker Mears by name, went to an island off the coast of Maine called Loud's island. It claimed to be a plantation. As the boat neared the shore a tall, brawny female, the mother of several stalwart sons, appeared on the rocks and as the officer set foot on shore sternly demanded his business.

"After men for Uncle Sam," he answered.

She immediately began to pelt him with big, hard potatoes, and they came so fast and furiously that he was obliged to flee to the boat and row away as fast as possible. Mr. Mears, when a little excited, stuttered badly. Relating the experience, he ended with, "G-g-give her po-po-po-po-tatoes-nough a-a-and sh-sh-she'll t-t-t-take R-R-Ritchmond." —Boston Herald.

Earthquakes.

No prediction can be made safely as to future earthquakes in any particular region. If any conjecture is warranted, it is merely that regions which are known to have contracted the earthquake habit are, on the whole, more likely to quake in the future than are regions which have long been free from seismic disturbances. No part of the continent seems less likely to be shaken than the Mississippi basin. Yet there were disastrous earthquakes about the mouth of the Ohio river in 1811-12. Regions covered with thick layers of clay, sand, gravel, glacial drift, etc., like much of the basin of the upper Mississippi, are less likely to suffer severely than those where solid rock comes to the surface, for the loose material acts as a cushion to deaden the vibrations which come to the surface from the solid rock below. —The World Today.

Wore Out His Finger.

There was a brakeman on the Colorado Midland railroad who years ago lost his index finger on his right hand. One day a lady passenger who had been much interested in the wonderful works of nature the brakeman had pointed out to her along the road noticed the stub finger. When the conductor came through the car she said to him:

"Excuse me, sir, but can you tell me how the brakeman lost his forefinger? He seems to be such an accommodating fellow."

"Yes, mum, that's just it. He is so accommodating that he wore that finger off pointing out the scenery along the line," said the conductor. —Denver News.

Contracted Quarters.

The sort of conversation in which Martha Hackett often indulged was peculiarly trying to her cousin, Mr. Lane. "Martha's been here all the morning," said Mrs. Lane wearily at dinner one night. "She talked on and on about things that didn't amount to anything and were all disconnected. I endured it as well as I could, but it does seem sometimes as if she was wandering in her mind."

"Well, there's one thing," said Mr. Lane grimly, "you needn't ever worry about her going far if that's where she's wandering." —Youth's Companion.

Origin of the Sidesaddle.

The use of the sidesaddle for women riders is traced to the time of Anne of Bohemia, eldest daughter of the emperor of Germany, who married Richard II. of England. Previous to this date all Englishwomen bestrode their horses man fashion, but on account of a deformity this German bride was forced to use a sidesaddle, and the custom became general.

A Plea For Cannibalism.

Bronson Alcott, the Concord philosopher, once made a strong and almost unanswerable plea for cannibalism. "If you are going to eat meat at all," argued the Yankee Plato, "why not eat the best?"

The Way to Get a Chance.

It may not be to the credit of mankind, but in this world no man is "given" a chance. If he wants a chance he has to throw it down and sit on its neck. —Columbia State.

BIRDS OF ILL NATURE.The Cruelty of Swans as Displayed Toward Other Fowls.

The graceful swan is one of the most ungracious in its ways. Not only (in the breeding season) does a male bird resent the intrusion of a strange gentleman, but it will spend the day in driving off from its domain any unlucky geese which might be plainly assumed to have no designs upon its domestic arrangements and have, indeed, no desire beyond that for a comfortable wash and swim. It will also pursue even the most innocent of newborn ducklings while they unwittingly rejoice in an early taste of their common element.

When an only child has passed out of the cymet stage of life and grown to full physical if not mental maturity father and mother swans have been known to fall upon and deliberately beat it to death with wing and beak. The gratified parents swam gracefully about the mere in which they lived while the great white corpse of their son lay battered and dead upon the shore. The following year, after another had been born to them and in infancy carried upon his mother's back, they began to treat him so roughly that, not being pinioned like them, he wisely flew away, and we saw him no more. Curiously enough, geese which have experienced rudeness from swans in the lusty spring have been known to retaliate in the calmer autumn, when the fierceness of their enemy had become mitigated. I have seen a gander leap upon the back of a once arrogant swan and pound away at it in the full enjoyment of gratified revenge. —Cornhill Magazine.

THE NATIONAL FLAG.No Possession of a Country More Loyal Loved and Revered.

There is no possession of a country which is more deeply revered, more consistently loved or more loyally supported than its national flag. In our country this is especially true, for in that one emblem are embodied all the principles which our forefathers upheld, all the benefits of a century and a quarter of enlightened progress and all the hope and assurance of a promising future.

The stripes of alternate red and white proclaim the original union of thirteen states to maintain the Declaration of Independence. Its stars, white on a field of blue, proclaim that union of states constituting our national constellation which receives a new star with every state. Thus the stars and stripes signify union and "in union there is strength."

The very colors have a significance. White stands for purity, red for valor and blue for justice, together forming a combination which it is our inherited privilege to honor and uphold.

It is not the flag of a king or an emperor or a president. It is the flag of the people, brought into being by their will, defended when necessary by their patriotism and to which they turn for protection in time of danger. No matter into what parties our people may be divided, due to political beliefs and leanings, they all stand united under one flag. It is the emblem of unity, safety and faith. —St. Nicholas.

Word Fashions.

The history of the word asparagus shows how, even in the days of dictionaries, word fashions change. In the eighteenth century, even in elegant usage, the delicacy was regularly called "sparrow grass." A dictionary of 1791 says that "sparrow grass" is now so general that "asparagus" has an air of stiffness and pedantry. "Sperage" had been the usual English form in the sixteenth century, but in the seventeenth herbalists brought back the original Greek and Latin spelling "asparagus." Pepsys varies between "sparrow grass," "sparagus" and "sparague." No doubt the eighteenth century relapse was the last, and the "a" is back for good now.

Hogs and Storms.

Hogs are always more restless than usual on the approach of bad weather, and when these animals run to and fro with mouthfuls of straw, leaves or branches the indication is for very foul weather. In their native state pigs probably made their own beds, and when bad weather was coming perhaps gathered a larger supply of straw or leaves than usual to serve as a protection against the rain.

Fireworks.

Fireworks originated in the thirteenth century, along with the evolution of powder and cannon. They were first employed by the Florentines, and later the use of fireworks became popular in Rome at the creation of the popes. The first fireworks, which resemble those which we see nowadays, were manufactured by Torre, an Italian artist, and displayed in Paris in 1764.

Consolation.

"So you are still unmarried," said the girl friend.

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "And when I see the disappointments of the girls who are married I begin to believe there is, after all, something in this doctrine of the survival of the fittest." —Washington Star.

A MUSTARD POULTICE.It Made a Lot of Trouble and Didn't Cure the Cold.

Lord Carrington used to be a great practical joker, but he was once the victim of his own reputation. According to the Dundee Advertiser, he was at a hotel in Cape Town. In the same hotel were a young couple, and, the husband having a bad cold, the wife left her room to obtain for him the solace of a mustard poultice. She left him asleep and, thinking she knew her way, descended the stairs and, procuring a particularly virulent concoction, made her way back to her room. But doors are much alike in hotels, and, seeing one ajar, as she had left her own, she entered. Creeping quietly to the bedside, she saw, as she thought, the form of her sleeping lord and master. Hastily bending over him, she placed the fatal irritant upon his chest.

No sooner had she done so than a movement of the sleeper revealed, to her horror, that she had made a terrible mistake. Too frightened to recapture the incriminating poultice, she fled from the room and, rushing down the passage, discovered her own door and bolted herself in. It was but a minute, and the storm broke. The hotel was in an uproar. The mustard poultice had been placed on the chest of the elderly governor general! The explosion of his wrath, his howls of rage as the mustard did its work, brought servants and manager to his bedside. The situation did not permit of an explanation. Furious with indignation, he declared himself the victim of a gross joke, and the efforts of the matre d'hotel to pacify him were in vain. He swore that the practical joker was nobody else than Lord Carrington, and he next day, fuming and indignant, left the place. So did a very contrite young wife and a husband whose cold was no better.

JAWS AS WEAPONS.Chief Means of Defense Among All Old World Apes.

Among all old world apes the teeth are the chief weapons for defense against natural foes and for combats for mates or tribal supremacy. The canines are in most cases enormously developed, inasmuch that ill informed naturalists have suggested that a near relationship must exist between the primates and the carnivora. As a matter of fact, these formidable teeth have nothing to do with alimentation, but are as purely weapons of war as are the bayonet and the Maxim gun. In practically every emergency demanding unusual energy, obstinacy and courage they come into play.

In every conflict with the world, the flesh and the devil—as such things are understood in phreological society—the temporal and masseter muscles are the chief arbiters of war. To become a great and powerful anthropoid it is absolutely and brutally necessary to have a large and strong jaw, to give them attachment to the teeth and good leverage to the muscles. That for an immense epoch our prehuman ancestors achieved success in life in like manner is as clear as the print of "Maga" to those who have learned to read nature's handwriting.

Since those days of true Arcadian simplicity our life has become bewilderingly complex and our methods for settling social difficulties have changed generally for the better. But here, as in so many other instances, the habits of a past age have left an indelible impress on the nervous system. —Blackwood's Magazine.

Her Namesake.

When Mrs. Lombard heard that the baby of her former cook had been named for her she bought a suitable rattle with many jingling bells and went to see her namesake.

"Why, Bridget," she said to the late Miss Leahy, now Mrs. O'Sullivan, "I thought you said the baby was named for me. My name is Hannah, and you are calling the baby Celestine."

"Celestine, L., ma'am," said Mrs. O'Sullivan hastily. "The 'L' is for Lombard, and Celestine is just a kind of a name to describe you, ma'am. There ain't anny Hannah to your looks, Mrs. Lombard; anny wan would tell you that." —Youth's Companion.

A Remarkable Fortress.

In the northern part of Madagascar is the most remarkable natural fortress in the world. It is occupied by a wild tribe who call themselves the people of the rocks. The fortress is a lofty and precipitous rock of enormous size, 1,000 feet high and eight square miles in area. Its sides are so steep that it cannot be climbed without artificial means. Within it is hollow, and the only entrance is by a subterranean passage.

Tanner For Canteen.

The legislation taken by Congress for the abolition of the canteen in the soldiers' homes throughout the country has met with severe criticism from Commander-in-Chief Tanner, of the Grand Army of the Republic. He said that legislation was an insult to the veterans. He said he believed the time is coming when Congress will listen to the ideas of experienced men and not the impractical idea of "dogmatists." "No legislation that takes from a man a mild and comparatively un-intoxicating drink and forces him, if he desires stimulants to take ardent liquor in low grogeries, is wise legislation. It is universally acknowledged among officers of the regular army that drunkenness has increased greatly among enlisted men since their canteens were abolished," said Tanner. "I am surprised that the W. C. T. U. holds out in favor of the canteen law," continued Mr. Tanner. "It used to be a favorite remark of Mrs. Tanner that the W. C. T. U. was in league with the liquor dealers, in order to drive soldiers from the canteen to the low grog shops."

facing the paint work, their hammocks on their shoulders and their faces presenting a most woeful picture. For this punishment is not so trivial as it appears. The hammock is not very heavy, it is true, but after an hour or so it drags on one's shoulder like lead. Besides, it is far from pleasant to stare fixedly at a square foot of gray painted woodwork for sixty minutes at a stretch. Jack would much prefer to do a few days' "Ten A" or to have his leave "jambled."

Spitting upon the deck of a man-of-war is strictly prohibited. As soon as the bugler has sounded the "stand easy" the spittoons are placed at intervals along the deck for the use of the sailors, and woe betide the tar who ignores the presence of these tubs and expectorates about the spotless deck. On many vessels a wide belt is kept, and this the man who departs from the regulations is compelled to wear upon his person and is thus subjected to the ridicule of his shipmates. He is given an opportunity of retrieving his character, however. He is permitted to walk the deck with the other men, and should he "spot" a sailor committing a like offense he at once presents him with the hated belt, and the new victim has to undergo a similar ordeal.

Some officers adopt more drastic measures. If Jack is detected expectorating anywhere but in the receptacles provided a "spit kid" is strapped to his chest, and any man who cares to do so may make use of this curious walking receptacle. As may be supposed, this humiliating punishment effectively prevents the men from violating the regulations.

Were a civilian given two large wooden buckets, one empty and the other full of water, and told to bale the liquid from the full tub into the empty vessel with a small spoon he would consider the order to be that of a madman or a revival of ancient fairy lore. Yet this punishment on several occasions has been meted out to refractory "sea dogs." Nothing is more amusing than to see a weather beaten sailor carefully bailing out spoonful after spoonful of water and as carefully depositing the fluid in a large bucket at his side.

A punishment frequently employed is that of setting the delinquent to walk slowly backward and forward along the deck nursing in his arms a six inch projectile (weighing a little over 100 pounds). After a quarter of an hour or so of this beneficial "exercise" the unhappy victim is glad to drop the load and rub his aching limbs. At the same time he probably makes a solemn mental resolve never to repeat the offense for which he has been "awarded" this dire penance.

An old naval captain—one of the old, old school—was at one time sadly addicted to stammering. He could not utter a simple sentence without a great amount of spluttering and hesitation. This was one day too much for an intrepid sailor who was receiving an order from the captain in that official's usual halting manner, and he unfortunately burst into an uncontrollable fit of laughter. This rash laugh he bitterly repented. Captain — was a disciple of the homeopathic system. Making Jack stand upon the fore bridge in full view of the entire ship's crew, the officer commanded his victim to laugh continuously for an hour and a half. This he was compelled to do, though the pitiful expression of his weather beaten, "sunburned" visage denoted anything but a happy and contented frame of mind.

Whistling in forbidden parts of the ship has often been punished in a similar manner. The offender has been obliged to whistle his loudest under the eagle eye of the commander until poor Jack's lips have become so parched and cracked that he could not produce another note.—London Tit-Bits.

Camping in New York City.

If you will take up any good map of New York city and follow along the East river with your finger until it joins the sound, you will find that from there on the western shore of the sound is dotted with small islands. As to their number and extent the map itself, if it is a good one, may prove deceptive, for many of the smaller dots are in actuality merely barren rocks of but a few yards area, and not a few of them are almost awash at high tide. The exploration of this half dozen miles of shore either by launch or rowboat is a fascinating occupation, and you will find before you reach the city limits some decidedly primitive natural conditions, as well as a score or so of islands, small, but well above water, and with scrubby undergrowth among the rocks and here and there an occasional tree or two. Some of them belong to the city, some to individuals, while others, and some of the best, are of doubtful ownership and title. One or two are permanently occupied, but the others are in almost every case accessible to orderly camping parties, and many of those near the shore are so used every year.—Country Life in America.

Goats as Mowing Machines.

A flock of Angora goats was put on a rocky hillside that it was desired to have cleared and got into grass. It was such a tangle of brush and briars that it was with difficulty one could make a way through it. The goats actually ate their way in until it was penetrated with paths in all directions. After the leaves within reach were eaten they would stand on their hind feet with their fore feet in the branches and so eat the leaves higher up, or, if the bush was not too large, would throw their weight against and bend it to the ground, where others of the flock would help strip it of its foliage. The leaves would come out again only to be eaten off, then sprouts would come from the roots to share the same fate, until at the end of the second summer everything in the shape of a bush not over six feet tall except the pines and laurel was completely killed and white clover was beginning to appear. These goats with their long, curly, white fleeces attracted more attention probably than anything else on the place; but, as can be imagined, they had to be well fenced in, for they would run over a stone wall like dogs.—Country Life in America.

Poetry at $1,875 a Line.

The highest price ever paid for poetry was $1,875 a line, $15,000 for an eight line poem.

It was not a good poem either. James Smith, one of the authors of "Rejected Addresses," wrote it. Smith met one night at dinner in London Strachan, the famous English printer. Strachan, what with old age and gout, was most infirm. Indeed, he could hardly walk. But his mind was exceedingly powerful and brilliant, and he talked so well that Smith on his return home wrote the following doggerel about the old man:

Your lower limbs seemed far from stout
When last I saw you walk;
The cause I presently found out
When you began to talk.
The power that props the body's strength
In due proportion spread
In you mounts upward, and the strength
All settles in the head.

Though this was undeniably rank poetry and ranker flattery, it pleased Printer Strachan so well that he added to his will a codicil giving Smith $15,000.

Breaking the News.

"Alaska is a land of adventure and romance," said a gold miner. "Many queer things have happened in Alaska," he continued, smiling—"many wretched things. Sometimes it has been necessary to break sad news to mothers at home, and sometimes this news has been broken with wonderful skill."

"An Alaskan called on a woman in New Hampshire to tell her of her son's death in the Klondike."

"Yes, lady," he said to the weeping mother, "I was with him to the end. I seen him die. And I tell ye, ma'am, as he wuz dyin' he looked jest like an angel."

"Did he?" the mother sobbed.
"He certainly did, ma'am," said the Klondiker. "Swingin' back'ards and for'ards in the air ther ye'd 'a' thought he had wings."—Kansas City Journal.

For Umbrella Forgetters.

"Lost umbrellas, forgotten umbrellas," said the lost and found clerk, "pay my salary. We sell all that are unclaimed, you know, deriving from this odd source $100 a month. Nearly all lost umbrellas are left in trains. There is a thing to do with an umbrella on entering a train that will assure you of not leaving it. I'll tell you what that thing is. When you sit down in the car place the umbrella on the outside, between yourself and the aisle. Thus the umbrella is a fence. It bars you in. When you jump up hastily to get off at your station you fall over it. You can't forget it whether you would or not."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Man, the Monstrous Specter.

What a monstrous specter is this man, the disease of the agglutinated dust, lifting alternate feet or lying dragged with slumber; killing, feeding, growing, bringing forth small copies of himself; grown upon with hair like grass, fitted with eyes that move and glitter in his face; a thing to set children screaming, and yet looked at nearer, known as his fellows know him, how surprising are his attributes!—R. L. Stevenson.

The Dog's Kennel.

Damp is the greatest evil to which the dog confined outside the house in a kennel is liable. It will kill the strongest dog and must be carefully guarded against. If a dog is to keep in health, too, it is necessary that it should be able to enjoy plenty of sunlight, and the kennel should always be placed facing south, except in the hottest parts of the day in summer, when it should be moved into the shade.

Luckiest Man in Arkansas.

"I'm the luckiest man in Arkansas," writes H. L. Stanley, of Bruno, "since the restoration of my wife's health after five years of continuous coughing and bleeding from the lungs; and I owe my good fortune to the world's greatest medicine, Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, which I know from experience will cure consumption if taken in time. My wife improved with first bottle and twelve bottles completed the cure." Cures the worst coughs and colds or money refunded. At Oberdorfer's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Fair Enough.

If you will try a case of the famous Lion Beer, the best on earth, and are not pleased with it, we will gladly refund your money. All doctors recommend this beer for family use and for convalescents.

Train Dived Into Lake.

The fast mail train on the Great Northern railroad was wrecked late the other afternoon about one mile and a quarter east of Camden, Wash. Spreading rails probably caused by sun kinks are believed to have caused the accident.

The locomotive, mail, baggage and smoking cars left the rails on emerging from a tunnel and seven lives were lost and many persons seriously injured. The train plunged over a 70-foot embankment and was submerged in the waters of Diamond lake. It is believed the locomotives is in from 100 to 300 feet of water.

A terrific explosion followed the wonderful dive of the engine, showing the locomotive exploded in the lake. A waterspout accompanied the explosion. There will be an attempt made to raise the engine.

Russell Sage's Will.

Except for a few small bequests to relatives, the fortune of Russell Sage is left to his widow. There is no charitable bequest in the will. There was nothing in the will to indicate the value of Mr. Sage's estate. Each of Mr. Sage's nephews and nieces is left $25,000. There is also a bequest of $10,000 to Mr. Sage's sister, Mrs. Chapin, now deceased.

While there is nothing in the will to show the value of Mr. Sage's estate, attorneys for Mrs. Sage estimate it at between $70,000,000 and $80,000,000, of which amount about $30,000,000 is outstanding in loans.

Negro Murderer Arrested.

Officers with D. G. Mulliken's bloodhounds, after a twelve mile chase Friday night, captured Jesse Fitzgerald, the negro who broke into the house and murdered Mrs. Robert Broughton, near Barboursville, Wednesday night, and robbed the house of money and clothing, her husband being away from home. Annie Henson, the negro servant at the Broughton home, is locked up with him. Forty dollars, answering the description of the money taken was found on Fitzgerald and a bloody knife. He confessed his guilt to the officers. Lynching was narrowly averted. It is thought a mob will come after him. The County Judge has placed a heavy guard at the jail and will ask the Governor for troops. Judge Faulkner has called a special term of court for August 6 to try the negro.

Stirred Up a Hornet's Nest.

B. W. Trimble, editor of the Mt. Sterling Advocate, has stirred up a hornet's nest in that city by an attack on the Mayor, Council and city officials regarding gambling and the saloon business there. He charges gambling goes on openly and illegal sale of whisky is an every day occurrence. In an article a few days ago, Trimble stated that he learned an officer knew of gambling games going on and notified the players to quit, but failed to arrest anyone. After this publication he was visited in his office by Mayor Harris, Judge Kemper and the policeman and asked to name the man. He refused to do so and says he is threatened with a damage suit and personal violence. In the last issue of his paper he roasted the officials to a turn. A sensation was caused by the language used and there is much bitterness over the situation. The Mt. Sterling Gazette virtually indorses Trimble's language.

Madden Called the Turn.

Divorced from John E. Madden June 9, Mrs. Anna Louise Madden was wedded to Lyman V. Bell July 23. The divorce decree was granted by Judge William Littleford of the Common Pleas Court, Cincinnati; the marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. George S. Webster, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, New York.

Christian Sunday School Convention.

The Christian Sunday School Convention, at Clintonville, July 26, was attended by a large crowd and was quite a success.

The Committees on Organization, Nomination and Resolutions made the following reports, which were unanimously adopted, and requested to be published in the county papers:

We, your Committee on Organization and Nomination of Officers for Bourbon County Bible School Convention, beg leave to suggest as follows:
President, W. S. Willis, Clintonville.
Vice President, W. F. Heathman, Clintonville.
Secretary and Treasurer, J. W. Jones, North Middletown.

We further suggest an Executive Committee, consisting of one man from each congregation in the county whose duty it shall be to meet quarterly, on court days agreed upon, to confer with the Board of Affairs in regard to this work in the county, viz:

E. J. Burris, Little Rock.
W. M. Rogers, Cane Ridge.
Dr. H. C. Burroughs, Millersburg.
T. H. Current, Riddles Mills.
Miller Lail, Paris, R. F. D. No. 6.
Lloyd Ashurst, Paris, R. F. D. No. 9.
W. O. Hinton, Paris.
Prof. M. G. Thompson, Paris.

We suggest that the first meeting of this committee take place in the town of W. O. Hinton, Paris, on County Court day in September.

We recommend as the time for the next meeting of this convention the first Thursday in August, 1907, and the place be North Middletown.

M. G. THOMPSON,
JOHN J. REDMON,
W. F. HEATHMAN,
R. M. HOPKINS,
W. F. ALBOTT,
MILTON ELLIOTT.

We, your Committee on Resolutions, report as follows:

Resolved, First—That our heartiest thanks be, and are, extended to the people of Clintonville for their bountiful and boundless hospitality.

Second—That we congratulate the country on the wave of Temperance and Civic righteousness that is sweeping over it, and we pledge our hearty support to them.

Third—That we approve the movement to enforce the laws upon Sunday closing and that we congratulate our Governor and the county officials upon the manly stand they have taken in behalf of law and order.

Fourth—That we are unalterably opposed to Sunday base ball, excursions and other ways of desecrating the Lord's day. And we urge our Sunday Schools and all Christian, law-abiding citizens to use their influence to put a stop to the same.

Fifth—That we pledge ourselves to awaken an increased interest in organized Sunday School work in the county.

Dying of Famine

is, in its torments, like dying of consumption. The progress of consumption, from the beginning to the very end, is a long torture, both to victim and friends. "When I had consumption in its first stage," writes Wm. Myers, of Cearfoss, Md., "after trying different medicines and a good doctor, in vain, I at last took Dr. King's New Discovery, which quickly and perfectly cured me. Prompt relief and sure cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, etc. Positively prevents pneumonia. Guaranteed at Oberdorfer's drug store. Price 50c and $1 a bottle. Trial bottle free.

Arrested in Gotham.

"Col. Mills," a gentlemanly buncoist, who, four years ago separated sundry Millersburg people from their money and [other] possessions, has been arrested in New York. His name this time is "Charlie Ward." He gives his age as seventy-nine years, and his occupation as "Assistant to ministers and other susceptible people." For further particulars ask Major Best and Prof. Fisher, of Millersburg.

Cella Refused.

Lawrence Jones, who went to New York to consult with President Louis Cella of the Douglas Park track to secure it for the State Fair site this year, wired Secretary J. B. Bowles that Cella declined to grant the use of the track for this purpose. Cella, however, agreed to suspend racing during the State Fair week. Arrangements were made to hold the fair at Churchill Downs. Racing will begin at Douglas Park early in September and at Churchill Downs early in October.

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST GUARANTY OF MERIT.

When the maker of a medicine, sold through druggists for family use, takes his patients fully into his confidence by frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrappers, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the search light of investigation turned full upon his formula and that it will bear the fullest scrutiny and the most thorough investigation. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of the weaknesses, periodical pains and functional derangements of the organs distinctly feminine, is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for woman's special use, the maker of which is not afraid to take his patients into his full confidence by such open and honest publicity.

A glance at the published ingredients on each bottle wrapper, will show that it is made wholly from native, American, medicinal roots, that it contains no poisonous or habit-forming drugs, no narcotics and no alcohol—pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength being used instead of the commonly employed alcohol, both for extracting and preserving the active medicinal properties found in the roots of the American plants employed. It is the only medicine for women's peculiar diseases, sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which is in the long run so harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Now, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by possessing intrinsic value all its own, and besides it enhances the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription."

Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise all the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed—recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If interested, send name and address to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients and telling just what Dr. Pierce's medicine is made of. It's free for the asking.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound of imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHEHEY & CO. Toledo, O.

Sold by Druggists, 75c.
